MACKENZIE BIGGS '24

HOMETOWN: Bloomington, Illinois

MAJOR: Music Education-Instrumental

SCHOLARSHIPS: Presidential, Trustee, Journey and Vermeer Music

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES: Women's Golf and Campus Ministries

CAREER GOAL: Music Teacher

A violin closet, handmade by her great-grandfather, held more than 100 violins — and a promise from her grandmother: If then six-year-old Mackenzie Biggs '24 one day chose to play the violin, she would be gifted one of the string instruments of her dreams. So, with a promise and a dream, her musical journey began to crescendo.

Biggs, a Bloomington, Illinois, native and music aficionado has spent the past 14 years honing her craft. Now, as a music education major at Central College with an instrumental track, she has learned how to play other instruments — including clarinet, flute, oboe, bassoon, saxophone, marimba, drums and has even tried her hand at Central's enviable harpsichord — in preparation for educating burgeoning young musicians in her future career.

"I love the idea that I can make as much of an impact as my great-grandfather on other kids at a young age and when they're just beginning in music," Biggs says. "If they get started young, they'll probably do it forever, and that means so much to me."

Biggs' connections at Central even landed her a major opportunity. John Helmich, adjunct professor of music and Central Music Academy instructor, helped her land a gig in Grinnell, Iowa. As the youngest instrumentalist there, Biggs was shocked to be approached by professional musicians afterward. She was asked to play in an orchestra for the highest-selling American band in U.S. history: The Eagles.

In a matter of weeks, Biggs went from playing her first gig at a funeral to living "Life in the Fast Lane" — her favorite song by The Eagles — and playing violin for the Grammy-winning group on at Wells Fargo Arena in Des Moines!

Read more of Mackenzie's story at central.edu/biggs.

"I just love Central College, and I love that I get to do everything that my heart desires."

GET CONNECTED

"I immediately felt right at home" is a statement you'll hear a lot at Central – with good reason. Our small class sizes and residential campus make meeting others easy. Here you'll grow your leadership skills and create friendships that will last a lifetime.

For more information about residence hall living, visit:
central.edu/campus-life.

"You build such a great community living on campus all four years. It's nice just to walk down the hall to hang out with your best friend or ask a question on homework. You don't ever have to get in your car and drive anywhere, and everyone knows everyone when you're walking around."

SMALL-TOWN FEEL, BIG-CITY PERKS

Central is located in winsome, walkable Pella, Iowa. Famous for its Dutch heritage, old-world architecture, fabulous bakeries, laid-back coffee shops, Fortune 500 companies and world-famous tulip festival, the town is just 40 miles from the cultural attractions of Iowa's capital of Des Moines. In 2021, Oprah ranked Pella as one of 60 charming American towns everyone should visit. Did we mention Smash Park and Chick-fil-A are new to town?

A FEW OF OUR FAVORITE THINGS

Since Central's founding in 1853, there have been many "favorite things" on campus.

Foods, traditions, people, buildings, activities and programs — there are really too many favorites to count.
So here, in no particular order, are some things Central students love most.

THE POND

This idyllic campus focal point also hosts families of geese, winter skating parties and the annual Lemming Race where costumed students leap in during Homecoming.

SERVICE DAY

Every year, Central offers an alternative day of learning for students, faculty and staff to bond while completing tasks that help worthy organizations in Pella and Central Iowa achieve their missions.

FEEL THE RHYTHM

Flying Pans Steel Drum Band, directed by Stan Dahl, senior lecturer of music and Central Music Academy instructor, is the only one of its kind in the country.

GENNIS

Golfing with tennis balls has been a tradition on campus since 2004 — and gorgeous weather always brings out players. Watch where you hit, though — the pond can be chilly!

CARAMEL BARS

Nobody makes 'em like we do! Sweet, gooey and slightly crunchy, they're a favorite at our Central Market dining hall and campus events.

BREAKFAST OF CHAMPIONS

What's better before finals than pastries and a hot breakfast at midnight served by faculty and staff?

THINK GREEN

Every student takes a course in sustainability and puts their knowledge into action on a campus committed to the environment.

GET INVOLVED

LET US COUNT THE WAYS

There are lots of ways to indulge your interests with 100-plus organizations on campus.

Are you looking for new ways to show off your creativity? Do you have a passion for serving the community? By getting involved, you can learn new skills, challenge yourself, develop leadership qualities, meet unique people and enrich your college experience.

No matter your goals, you'll find at least one organization that's right for you. Central offers academic and creative clubs, service organizations and music ensembles, NCAA Division III and recreational athletics teams, fraternities and sororities and more. If you don't find an on-campus organization you'd like to participate in, we'll help you start one!

YOUR OPPORTUNITIES GUARANTEED*

- + Affordable tuition
- + An internship, job shadowing or service experience
- + Graduation in four years

Central is making college more affordable than ever.

TUITION AT CENTRAL IS JUST $20,988 PER YEAR.

AND SCHOLARSHIPS ARE STILL AVAILABLE.

Central is more affordable than ever – with a total price to attend comparable to state universities. And that's before applying financial aid and scholarships!

We also guarantee each Central student an internship, job shadowing or service experience; graduation in four years; and a free, weeklong Career Kickstarter program during sophomore year.

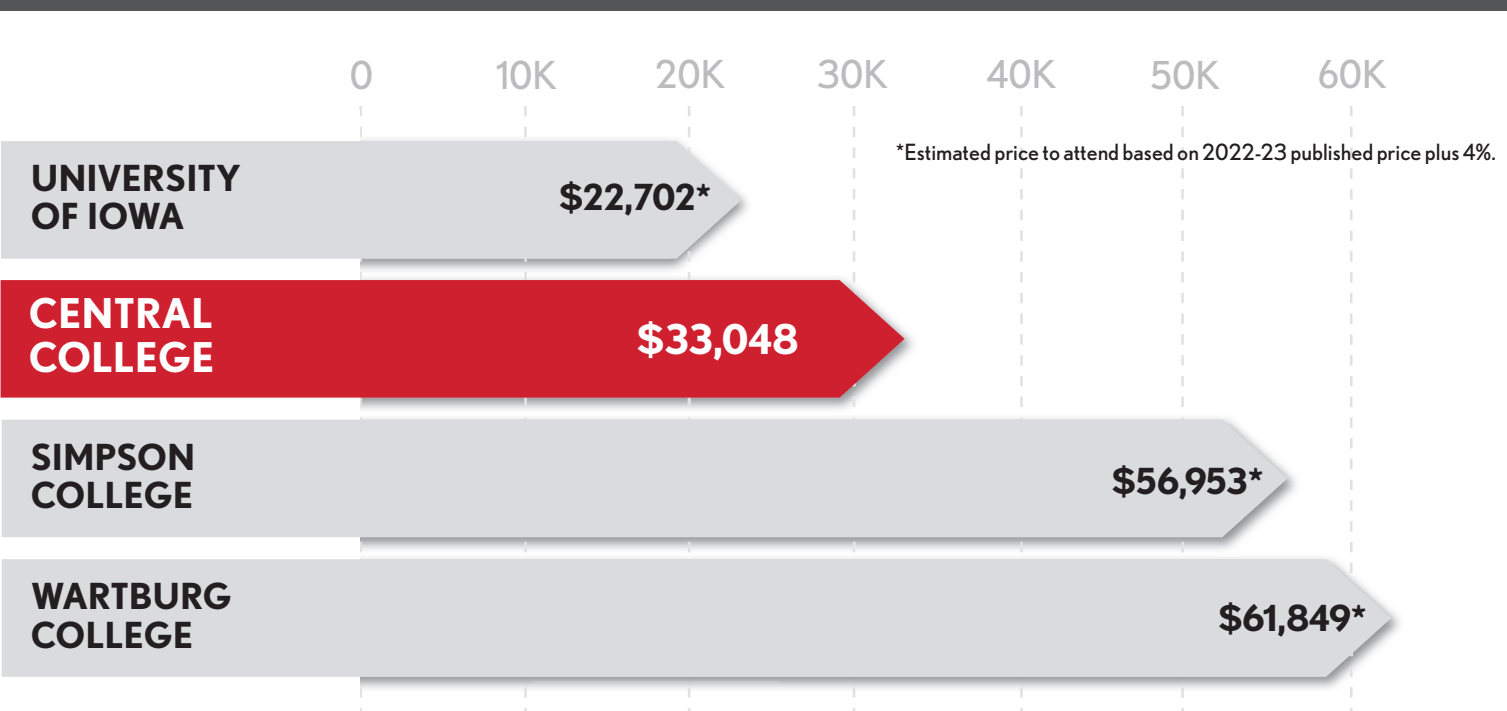

These opportunities save Central students money. Provide marketable skills. And allow students to graduate and earn a paycheck sooner. Central guarantees these experiences to every Central student who meets certain basic criteria. Students graduate with stellar credentials, strong connections, unforgettable mentors and an education that opens doors for a lifetime.

That's the Central way.

HOW CENTRAL STACKS UP

$20,988 (CENTRAL'S TUITION) + $12,060 (CENTRAL'S ROOM & BOARD) = $33,048

A COMPARISON OF TUITION + ROOM AND BOARD WITH OTHER INSTITUTIONS BASED ON PUBLISHED PRICE TO ATTEND.

– $11,629

Average aid and scholarships a student receives from Central, federal and state awards, which can be subtracted from total costs for an incredibly affordable experience.

GET BRAIN FOOD

... so you can use every last brain cell to help change the world.

Central's liberal arts-based education lets you explore your passions. Find your focus. And be challenged to use every last brain cell to develop the critical thinking and problem-solving skills graduate programs and employers seek.

The average class size at Central is 18 students. You'll get to know your professors well, and yourself even better.

You'll benefit from their personal attention to your studies, your goals and your future success.

Our professors also serve as advisors, so they understand the nuances of each major. With their help, you'll graduate on time and head out to your next adventure.

KURT SERNETT '21

HOMETOWN: Kelley, Iowa

LOCATION: Charlottesville, Virginia

MAJORS: Communication Studies, Political Science and Spanish

SCHOLARSHIPS: Presidential, Trustee and Art Department Award

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES: Mock Trial, Scholte Hall Council, National Society of Leadership & Success and writing tutor in Central's Tutoring & Writing Center

GRADUATE SCHOOL: Master of Internal Affairs candidate studying cybersecurity policy, The Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas

Central College kept Kurt Sernett '21 busy — and happy.

At freshman orientation, Sernett knew he enjoyed politics, writing and public speaking, but had little idea what he wanted to study. His eventual advisor, Professor of Political Science Andrew Green, helped him arrange a triple major that encompassed his interests. Thanks to faculty guidance and the interdisciplinary nature of Central's curriculum, Sernett completed all his majors and still graduated in four years.

College taught Sernett time management. "People always ask me if I ever sleep or have fun, and the answer is yes; you just have to make time for it," he says. Because his majors and extracurriculars were so fulfilling, Sernett didn't feel overwhelmed, and he's grateful Central allowed him to explore so many interests.

Sernett is pursuing his masters at Texas A&M. His advice to other ambitious prospective students: Plan ahead and seek advice so you never feel alone in making big decisions.

"If you're a good enough planner, you can take advantage of all the opportunities Central offers."

See Sernett's story at

OPPORTUNITY IS KNOCKING

Your Central education will give you the edge you need to thrive in a complex world. Internships, job shadowing, service and off-campus experiences offered through Central lead directly to careers. With a college connected to 500-plus internship sites in Iowa and around the world, you'll have plenty of experiences to choose from.

That's not all. At Central, you can work alongside well-connected faculty mentors on research projects, which can result in presentations to national and regional conferences. That's the kind of experience that can result in a great letter of reference, as well as a résumé and job or graduate school application that really stands out.

ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS OPEN THE DOOR.

OPPORTUNITIES WILL FIND YOU OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM

You'll find a wealth of learning experience at Central. Explore your passions and expand your insights through:

+ Service and internship opportunities. + Research projects with faculty. + Student employment positions.

Central also supports off-campus experiences around the world.

LEADERSHIP CENTRAL

A dynamic curiosity. An open mind. A zest for involvement. A desire to make a difference.
A quest to achieve a personal best. Students with these qualities thrive at Central.

Central's accessible and supportive faculty and staff offer personalized, highly qualified guidance. They'll help you realize your personal potential in a variety of different and unexpected ways — inside and outside the classroom.

CENTRAL STUDENTS ARE SELF-STARTERS

Explore your passions and expand your insights via exceptional academic programs, rewarding activities and outside-the-classroom learning opportunities.

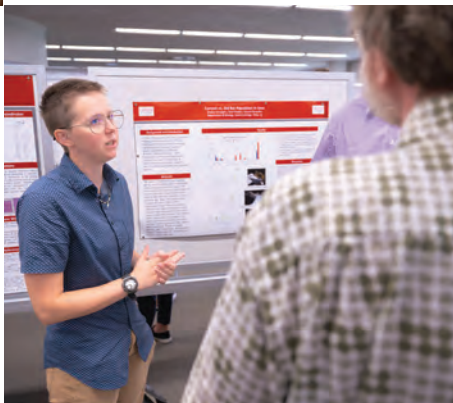

SERVICE

Central's longstanding relationship with the Reformed Church in America fosters a community of faith, service and social justice via volunteer work and other experiences coordinated by the Center for Community-Based Learning and Campus Ministries.

RESEARCH

Do collaborative research, scholarship and creative inquiry with professors who mentor you through opportunities often reserved for university graduate students.

ATHLETICS

Participate in one or more of Central's 21 highly competitive, NCAA Division III athletics teams – without compromising your academic performance or other extracurriculars.

PEER TUTORING

Become a peer tutor, helping fellow students with coursework in collaboration with professors.

TAKE CHARGE OF YOUR FUTURE

Leaders fine-tune their strengths by trying different things. Some endeavors may be more successful than others. All are rich in personal discovery.

EMBRACE THE "WHAT IF'S?"

Take the opportunity to try something new at Central and you will start to answer important questions about your career path. Is this really what I want to study? Can I continue to challenge myself and grow?

The answer may be a resounding YES. Or an equally emphatic NO. College is the time to explore your talents and interests. The worst that can happen? You decide to move in a different direction. The best? You find a lifelong passion.

CURIOSITY TAKES YOU PLACES

Graduate programs and employers are consistently impressed by Central graduates' professional agility. Their active curiosity demonstrates ambition, commitment to lifelong learning and an ability to approach challenges from a variety of perspectives. It's something Central students have in abundance.

GET SUPPORT.
RECEIVE MENTORSHIP.
FIND SUCCESS.

CONNECT THE DOTS

CONNECTIONS MAKE ALL THE DIFFERENCE

Central is all about connections. It starts with the college's close-knit, supportive community that connects you with new friends. Among the other connections you will find here: The coaches who teach you to work hard. The professors who open your mind to the mysteries of science or the psychology of happiness. The campus leaders who mentor you with integrity. The alumni who help you make career connections for life. These relationships help you begin to build your network, to connect dots in the classroom and prepare you for the next big connection, whether it's graduate school or a great job opportunity.

THE GAME CHANGER

B.J. Pilling '09 blazed his own academic trail by majoring in exercise science and minoring in business. “I recognized where I wanted to go, and what I wanted to do. Everyone wants to be an athletics director or general manager, but I had an entrepreneurial itch,” he says. When Pilling got the opportunity to join Huddle Tickets, based in Atlanta, Georgia, in 2012, he hustled to take it. As digital trends continued to skyrocket, Huddle Tickets made a transition to include a digital ticketing platform — GoFan. Pilling was positioned as CEO of the new venture and gets a front-row seat of the business action daily.

THE BRAIN RESEARCHER

Rachel Spooner '16 is taking the world of neurological research and discovery by storm. The doctor of neuroscience is continuing her research path, which began at Central and carried through her Ph.D. program, to Düsseldorf, Germany. In her time at Central, she was a research assistant and resident advisor; completed her own research and honors thesis; and stayed active on campus attending events and participating in campus activities. Just five years removed from her Central education, she’s been published 22 times (first author and co-author) and is waiting on review for another seven first-author publications.

THE FUTURE OF HEALTH CARE

An amazing 58% of Central graduates who go to graduate school do so in health-related fields. Why? University of Iowa medical students Sam Palmer '17, Abby Fyfe '18, Nick Lind '06 and Andie Arthofer '17 credit Central’s well-rounded liberal arts education, faculty mentoring, strong pre-professional advising and connections to real-world experiences with making them great candidates for medical school — and successful med students after they arrived.

THE DNA DECIPHERER

Cheyenne Scholl '21 participated in ongoing Genetics Honors Research, which investigated a simplified process of DNA extraction, followed by DNA barcoding of native Iowan bees, to identify morphologically difficult species more accurately. She presented her research at Central’s Undergraduate Research Symposium in 2019 and was awarded first place for best poster and presentation of research. Her research also was part of her senior thesis, which she successfully presented in December 2020.
